EMBLEMS

Having reached our thirties, we are starting to see how the next generations are growing up to become a mature self.

We long for a future where the hope of childhood, the passion of the youth and the experience of veterans are passed on to the next generations in a successful transition chain.

We are still 30 years old and are eager to see even more generations to come, full of dreams and hopes, passion and enthusiasm, and with a vision of a better world, united through an unspoken language: sport.

The values of martial arts as a sport are shared by thousands of people around the world regardless of age, culture and economic background. Hence, the further globalization of martial arts and its values could result in a better connected and more understandable world.

We would like to walk with you, hand in hand, in this journey towards a world united through sports.
